Audio Processing Library creates small applications from a single source file. Library components are unipolar (the components accept only positive values) with an excellent tolerance of numerical errors. Each component can read and write only one sample type at a time. The components can be used to convert between sample types and volumes, add and remove noise and reduce or increase sound, equalize sound, add chorus or phaser effects, add high or low frequency sounds and more. BasicAudio VCL Components includes: Volume Control - Gets or sets the volume level of the sound wave. *Mute - Indicates whether the sound should be muted or unmuted. *PlaySound - Plays a sound to another sound or to silence. *PlayLoopSound - Plays a looping sound. *PlaySound3 - Plays a sound to silence. *PlayTone - Plays a tone. *PlayWave - Plays a sound wave. *PlayNoise - Plays white noise. *PlayBits - Plays an octave decomposition of a sound. *PlayListOfSound - Plays a list of audio files. *ADFEnvelope/ADFPoly/ADFStepEnvelope - Envelopes sound. *ADFPoly - Generates a sequence of samples. *ADFStepEnvelope - Generates a sequence of samples. *ADFDynamics - Decreases the amplitude of the sound. *ADFDrift - Increases or decreases the amplitude of the sound. *ADFBass - Modifies sound. *ADFSaw - Generates an analog sawtooth. *ADFNoise - Generates noise. *ADFTrace - Gets or sets the trace level of an audio signal. *ADFSweep - Increases or decreases the sweep range of a sound. *ADFCosine - Generates a sequence of sine and cosine waves. *ADFTriangle - Generates a sequence of sine and cosine waves. *ADFTriangle - Generates a sequence of sine and cosine waves. *ADFBreath - Generates a breath sound. *ADFDeep - Increases the range of a sound. *ADFFreq - Generates a sequence of wave with a specified frequency. *ADFPitch - Generates a note sequence. *ADFNoiseShort - Generates white noise. *ADFBeat -
